WELCOME TO CEDAR COVE—the town you'd love to call home! Cedar Cove is loosely based on my own hometown of Port Orchard, Washington, situated on the Kitsap Peninsula. The majority of landmarks in Cedar Cove are fictional, including the homes that appear in the books (and on the covers). However, there are places you can visit, which inspired similar places in Cedar Cove. In Port Orchard, they're located in the same spots shown on the map. These include DD's on the Cove (Amy's on the Bay), the (Sidney) Art Gallery, the Lighthouse Restaurant (Gino's), the Pancake Palace (Pancake House) and the Victorian Tea Room. If you visit Port Orchard, stop in at the Chamber of Commerce for more information about the area. Enjoy your visit, whether it takes place in your imagination or in Port Orchard, the "real" Cedar Cove.
